Recommended for Confidential File for following reasons:

Pleaded guilty on Mar. 9, 1962 to a morals charge, involving improper relations with boys and other young men. (See newspaper clippings.)

We suspect this man while he was a SM although we could get nothing definite on him. However, we did get him out of Scouting on general principles.

He got a job as executive of the Council for Retarded Children with headquarters in Providence, but his career was interrupted by his apprehension by the police.

Suspended Term In Morals Case

Ronald P. Crepeau, 26, of 32 John St., formerly of 35 Providence St., who pleaded nolo on March 9 to a morals charge, was returned to 12th District Court today for a sentence following a pre-sentence investigation.

Judge Edward F. Dwyer gave Crepeau a three-year suspended sentence and placed him on probation for three years, with a provision that he continue psychiatric treatment.

Youth Held In City Break

Woonsocket, R.I. 3/11/62

An 18-year-old Woonsocket youth was bound over to the grand jury today in 12th District Court on a charge of breaking and entering into a dwelling.

Michael P. Lessard, of 3 Short St., pleaded no contest to the charge before Judge Edward F. Dwyer. Stolen were several unendorsed payroll checks, a blank check, a small change and other items. Part of the loot was found hidden in a car parked off South Main Street.

As a result of investigation of the case, police last night arrested Ronald P. Crepeau, 26, of 35 Providence St., whose apartment house was broken into. Crepeau pleaded nolo to a morals charge. Crepeau had complained to police about someone had broken into his apartment Tuesday night.

He was released in $2,000 bail for pre-sentence investigation until April 6. Laurent C. Blodreau, attorney for Crepeau, said Crepeau has agreed to undergo psychiatric examination. Crepeau has no previous record.

In Lessard's case, Judge Dwyer accepted the nolo plea as a waiver of examination. Lessard was held in lieu of $4,000 bail for the grand jury. Several juveniles who, police said, took part in the break, have been released in custody of their parents, pending Family Court hearings.

Deputy Police Chief Ernest N. Boucher told the court that Lessard is also awaiting appearance before the grand jury on a charge of being an accessory to a break. He had been free in $2,000 bail in connection with a break last year at the Woonsocket Tire Sales Inc., Social St.
